

Swish! Corns Gone! We Use "GETS-IT!"

2 Seconds, 2 Drops—Corns Vanish!
For everybody with corns, there is in every drug store in the land one of the real wonders of the world, and that's "GETS-IT" for corns! It's the first and only corn-cure ever known that removes any and every corn or callus without fail, without fussing with thick bandages, toe harnesses, corn-swalling salves, irritating ointments. It's applied in 2 seconds—bing, bang—2 drops, the work is done, the corn shrivels up, your corn agony ends and the corn leaves forever! All the lumpy, the pains that dart to your heart's core, the crucifixion of having to wear shoes over screaming corns, the danger of blood poison from making the corn bleed by using knives, razors and scissors—are gone at last! "GETS-IT" is the new way, the sure, simple, painless way. Try it for corns, calluses, warts and bunions. "GETS-IT" is sold by druggists every where. See a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.—Adv.

"Some Foxy Trot, Mamselle, What? Corns Gone? Yes, I Used 'GETS-IT!'"

Two barns on a western farm, exactly alike, were painted at the same time; one with Devoe Lead-and-Zinc Paint, the other with a well-known mixed paint at the same price.

Six gallons of Devoe finished one building; of the other paint nine gallons were required.

You can figure out the economy in Devoe for yourself.

When you do any painting ask for Devoe paint, and get it.

TRICKS FOR DEATH

Phil Rader Tells of Contrivances in Trenches.

Christie Mathewson Could Do Wonders With Grenades.

WILL TRY ANYTHING TO KILL

Cover Bodies With Beet Leaves and Crawl to Fight.

Fascinating Experiences Told by a Real American.

(By Phil Rader, Member French Foreign Legion. Copyright, 1915, by the United Press.)
London, March 1.—What Christie Mathewson could do to the Germans near our trenches!

The Germans are masters of new tricks, or of adapting old tricks to new purposes, but their hand grenade stunt would put them at the mercy of the great American ball players. The hand grenade is about the size of a baseball and it weighs only a few ounces more. It has four little buttons on it which must strike a blow of four or five pounds in order to cause an explosion, so a man can handle one in his hands with perfect safety.

Throwing hand grenades in trenches as explained by Phil Rader. Rader says an American baseball player could play havoc with these instruments of war.

I used to watch the Germans toss these bombs like school girls or like boys pitching nickels at a crack and all us Americans used to watch the inefficiency of the bomb in such untrained hands. We were considered the best bomb throwers of all, because we pitched them with force. A man with the aim of a trained pitcher could have worked havoc with them. He could have kept battering away at a trench—and the German line was only 45 feet away from ours—until we had worn out the trench with repeated explosions.

RUB RHEUMATIC, ACHING JOINTS AND STOP PAIN

Instant relief with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Relief awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.—Adv.

his butcher shop in Pawtucket to come and fight the Germans because they had destroyed his birthplace in Belgium, saved his life and perhaps several other lives one day by catching one of these bombs, as if it were a baseball. He threw it back, and it exploded in one of the German trenches. There was a huge Swede in my section who swung the butt end of his rifle at one of these bombs one day and hit it. There was a terrific explosion and he was found, brained. Why he did such a foolish thing, I don't know. A man's nerves play him strange tricks in the trenches, and you find yourself tempted to do dangerous things, just as some persons find themselves wanting to jump from high places. I suppose the Swede had been tempted time and again to stop one of the bombs with his rifle and one day the temptation became too strong.

Wore Oldtime Armor.

The Germans had another trick that reminded me of the American game of football. Now and then a few of them would clamor out of the trenches, under a terrific fire, to cut the barbed wire entanglements. They wore armor over their bodies and heads. We never killed any of these armored men but we usually dropped them by hitting them in the legs. It seemed that their shin guards were not as protective as the rest of their odd suits. Another new invention, used by the Germans, was a swivel, fixed in cement, on which the Germans swung their rifles. Each man would fix his aim at a certain very small section of our trenches and, when he was ordered to shoot, he would reach up and pull his trigger without raising his head. It was merely artillery practice applied to rifles, and it had a deadly effect.

White Night Lights.

The white night lights which were shot into the air and then hovered over the trenches, suspended by small parachutes, were introduced by the Germans, but it wasn't long before we had them, too.

It was in the artillery line that the French developed the new idea. The German guns kick with each discharge. It rears back on its wheels, slews around and usually must be reloaded. But the wonderful French gun, known as the "Soixante Quinze," fires twenty 2.9 inch shells in a minute. The recoil is caught in cylinders filled with glycerine. The gun loads itself automatically and it never loses its aim. And, on our part of the line, all the new inventions which the Germans developed could not overcome the great advantage which the French held on account of the "Soixante Quinze" gun. In its way this gun is as marvelous and revolutionary as the great 42-centimeter guns of the Germans.

The Clever Beet Coat.

The "Beet Coat," as we called it, was one of the cleverest German inventions that we saw in our part of the line. All of the country around us and the fields in which our trenches were dug was sugar beet land, and the landscape was a vista of beet leaves.

One day we saw a mound of those leaves heaving in a peculiar fashion. "It's only a mole digging," said our lieutenant. But suddenly the whole pile moved and hunched forward. We began to shoot and to our amazement, the beet leaves rose on two strong German legs and dashed back to the trenches. We laughed uproariously. The German reminded us Americans of Montgomery or Stone in their queer disguises.

We found out later that the Germans would take a gunny sack, cut head and arm holes in it, pin beet leaves to the sack and then wear the sack like a coat. If a man moved up, read: "My dear Del—I will save you. It is high time. I will be still. I know nothing. Guess they will get me sooner or later. Burn this. Bring my new shoes to the jail. Put a 'pill' in the heel of the right shoe."

This afternoon Ralph Holliday was named as the assassin of Richard Randolph. Randolph left no will and Mrs. Randolph's statement came five minutes after she was informed that she alone will inherit her husband's estate, valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

The note which Mrs. Randolph tore up read:

"My dear Del—I will save you. It is high time. I will be still. I know nothing. Guess they will get me sooner or later. Burn this. Bring my new shoes to the jail. Put a 'pill' in the heel of the right shoe."

carefully along on his stomach, his chances of being seen were very small.

Burned Straw Stack.

I was detailed with two other men to burn a straw stack in which the Germans had hidden machine guns. We spent the day in making "beet coats," and at 9 o'clock in the evening we donned them and started out on our one hundred yard crawl through the beet fields. We got to the stack, fixed the fuse, lit the fuse with a match under a coat, crawled back to the trench, and five minutes later the stack was ablaze.

The stack had been hollowed out and the Germans had placed four machine guns in it. We saw the wrecks of these guns the next day and later my two companions and myself were "mentioned in dispatches" for firing the stack. Without our "beet coats" invented by the Germans, we would not have succeeded for several times the white lights filled the air while we stretched ourselves on our stomachs among the beets. "Beating it with beets" was the name we gave to this stunt of wearing "beet coats."

Lace Manufacturer's Wife Says No Widow's Weeds for Her.

St. Louis, March 26.—"I'll wear no widow's weeds and I'll manage my business,"

This was the dramatic preface to her story of her life with Richard Randolph, unsuccessful candidate last fall for the Republican nomination for congress from the Twelfth district, made by Mrs. Randolph, a prisoner since the murder of her husband last night. The police are still searching for Ralph Holliday, whom Randolph named in his divorce last September.

Mrs. Randolph was arrested as she tore up a note from Holliday.

Randolph left no will and Mrs. Randolph's statement came five minutes after she was informed that she alone will inherit her husband's estate, valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

MORTON TO SPEAK.

Famous Negro Educator at Auditorium April 3.

Major Robert R. Morton, who next to Dr. Booker T. Washington is the most noted negro graduated from Hampton Institute, Va., will speak at the auditorium Saturday evening, April 3, at 8:15 o'clock. The Hampton Singers will render old plantation songs and scenes from "The Old Life" will be depicted on the platform. Arthur Capper, governor, will preside. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Topeka Federation of Churches. Tickets may be obtained at the Central Y. M. C. A. and the different churches.

Major Morton is an interesting character. Through his influence in one day 176,000 negroes in Virginia indulged in a general "clean-up bee."

CUTS DOWN ON CAKES

German Government Places Restrictions on Housewives.

Berlin, March 26.—Additional restrictions have been placed by the authorities upon bakers and housewives in Berlin, who now have been forbidden to bake cakes which require the use of yeast or similar preparations. The baking in homes of any cakes whatever between March 25 and April 12 also has been forbidden. The latter order is designed to check the consumption of flour for Easter cakes. The former regulation limiting to 10 per cent of the total weight the amount of flour which may be used in cakes not under the official ban remains in force.

The baking of cakes also has been forbidden in private households in the Duchy of Anhalt.

Protests to Police.
Florence, Italy, March 26.—A vigorous protest was made to the police today by the agent here of the North German Lloyd Steamship company because a crowd had gathered around his office and broken the window in which he had displayed war dispatches.
